7 years on from the Winterbourne View abuse scandal

The latest data shows there are at least 2,370 people with a learning disability and/or autism in inpatient units.

*NHS Digital Assuring Transformation data, April 2018

---

At risk

In 2015, 72% of people with a learning disability had received antipsychotic medication.

But only 29% were recorded as having a psychotic disorder.

*Figures from the HSCIC Learning Disability Census 2015

In 2015 665 people with a learning disability in inpatient units experienced physical assault at least once.

*Figures from the HSCIC Learning Disability Census 2015

---

We do not know how many people with a learning disability in inpatient units are currently receiving antipsychotic medication, being restrained, kept in isolation or are experiencing physical assault. This information has not been released since 2015.

---

Children and young people in units

Under 18s

The number of children with a learning disability and/or autism in inpatient units has increased.

230 April 2018

110 March 2015

*NHS Digital Assuring Transformation data, April 2018

---

Young people

38% of all admissions to inpatient units and transfers between them are of young people aged between 18 and 25.

*Lenehan Review, 2017

---

Shut away for too long

People with a learning disability and/or autism who are sent to inpatient units are there for an average of 5\(\frac{1}{2}\) years.

*NHS Digital Assuring Transformation data, April 2018

---

Registered charity number 222377 (England and Wales); SC041079 (Scotland) 2018.059